

LA FOLLETTE STORM CENTER.

Criticized for Absence from Senate Session.

Penrose Says He Is Well Enough to Be Out.

Cotton Schedule Again Deferred for Vote.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

WASHINGTON, June 3.—The atmosphere of the Senate chamber was surcharged with electricity tonight when the tariff bill was taken up at 8 o'clock in the first night's session since Congress was convened. Fifty-four Senators were present.

The sincerity of his attitude on the tariff bill was questioned, and finally serious attacks upon him were made by conservative Republicans in charge of the bill, and a spirited defense came from insurgents and Democrats.

Another outbreak is almost sure to occur when the Wisconsin Senator again gets the floor. Calling attention to a recent talk in the Senate yesterday in order to give Mr. La Follette an opportunity to rest and to his failure to be on hand tonight to resume his remarks, some Senators sought to show that he had received unusual consideration.

Mr. Beveridge, in defending Mr. La Follette, asserted that no Senator would question that Mr. La Follette was ill and needed the rest.

LA FOLLETTE ON STREET.

Mr. Penrose declared that he would be able to prove that Mr. La Follette was well enough to be abroad on the streets, "consulting with the representatives of yellow journals and up-lift magazines."

Penrose's defense of La Follette came from Senators Borah and Doolittle, Republicans, and Money, Democrat.

Mr. Beveridge suggested that the Senate should adjourn for a reasonable time to give Mr. La Follette an opportunity to recover and resume his speech. Mr. Aldrich opposed the suggestion. Mr. feeling was apparent on every side.

To end the discussion, Mr. Aldrich suggested that the Senate pass over the cotton schedule temporarily, and proceed to the consideration of the flag and hemp schedules.

The Senate proceeded with the flag schedule, and Mr. Brewster of Kentucky offered an amendment taking jute and jute burl from the free list and assessing a duty of 1 1/2 cents a pound. The amendment was adopted.

An amendment offered by Mr. Aldrich making the duty on threads made of fax or hemp yarns less than five厘 1 1/2 cents per pound, also was adopted.

GERMAN STATEMENT UP.

The Senate was in an amiable state of mind, and there were several clashes of temper. Senator Stone of Indiana asserted that the German of Berlin had taken exception to remarks made recently by Senator Aldrich relative to the wage statement supplied by the German government at the request of the American Secretary of State.

Mr. Aldrich had characterized as "impertinent" the effort which he claimed had been made in that statement to influence American tariff legislation and Mr. Stone undertook to show that the epithet had been applied to the German government.

Mr. Aldrich repeated this implication, but said repeatedly that the German manufacturers had undertaken to influence the course of the tariff bill and charged that in doing so they had been guilty of impertinence.

Mr. Aldrich intimated that Mr. Stone was acting as a representative of Germany and this remark aroused the American. Denying his right to speak his mind as an American Senator, he said the use of the expression was a "gross impertinence."

The colloquy continued almost three hours. The incident closed for the day with the statement by Mr. Stone that while Mr. Aldrich does not believe in the controversy, he had believed in the "controversy" the day as to relieve it of its bitter taste.

LA FOLLETTE CRITICIZED.

Senator La Follette in the morning had resumed his speech in opposition to the cotton schedule. His speech was a general criticism of the methods of the Finance Committee.

Mr. La Follette became quite exhausted and an effort was made to obtain permission for him to suspend and resume again tomorrow. Senator Aldrich took advantage of the incident to make an effort to obtain an agreement to vote on the tariff bill at a fixed hour tomorrow. In this he was unsuccessful and after a few minutes' rest the Wisconsin Senator continued.

A system has grown up here," said Mr. La Follette, "by which legislation is in the hands of two or three men whose authority seems to have been recognized here for many years without question. It seems hazardous on the part of any one who wants to know and who falls to come along when he is told. I want to announce to the astorcy of the Senate that the clock will strike presently and that there will be a new hour in the legislative business of the Senate."

Mr. La Follette once refused to yield to Mr. Aldrich for an interruption and said, "you're going to be accorded the same kind of treatment that I have received from you."

An amendment offered by Mr. Aldrich placing a duty of 3 per cent. ad valorem on lampicos, when mixed with other vegetable substances, was adopted.

The most important amendment adopted was a reduction of the duty on common gloves for women and children from 15 to 12 1/2 per cent. The rest of the glove schedule, which was a restoration of the Dingley rates for the House provision, contained nothing new, was agreed to.

The amendment was offered by Mr. Aldrich. Quills were used on combs of horn or ivory, on which the House rate was 40 per cent.

TRIAL FOR SUGAR WEIGHTERS.

NEW YORK, June 3.—The trial of a dock superintendent and six checkers of sugar weights, charged with conspiracy to defraud the United States government in the weighing of sugar at the docks of the American Sugar Refining Company in this city, will begin June 17 in the United States Circuit Court.

M'CLOUD STRIKERS.

March, Via Pablano and P. Coglio, is tonight believed by the authorities to be the best move. These men assumed control again today and are being hunted by the Sheriff.

FEAR BLOODSHED.

The authorities do not dare seek these men in their homes. They admit that bloodshed and violence will follow the first attempt at arrest. If the quietists in authority are not captured within twenty-four hours, the militia will be called upon to seize them.

Five hundred of the strikers gathered before the lumber company's store this morning and talked for more than an hour. They boomed the threat that troops were coming to quell them and declared through an interpreter that if they were driven from town, there would be no McCloud on the map. They also said they would stay in the village for six months, armed with resistance or military assault.

As soon as the militia special arrived, several Italians escaped through the brush to the shore where they hope to board a train for San Francisco. There they will gather funds to support the strikers. They flaunted a telegram received today in which the sheriff assured them of financial support for at least six months.

But few acts of violence have been committed today as the strikers are now under the leadership of their leaders. They disrupted their organization and joined in a terrific debate. They spat in the faces of several watchmen the person had on guard and taunted the company they met with vile epithets.

The appearance of the guards has cowed the irresponsible ones into submission to the authority of their leaders. Several houses in which they have been congregating were also closed last night at the command of the Sheriff and the women ordered to disappear.

UNLIMITED LIQUOR.

The situation is made dangerous by the fact that the unemployed have secured an unlimited amount of liquor. The leaders remain perfectly courteous to all gangs of thugs who have been sent to the streets this morning, but have been quietly agitating and discussing the situation in their quarters this afternoon.

President Quail's remarks to them were received with contempt. He was interrupted during his talk with jura. For several days the strikers have been recognized by name asking them if they wished to hurt "Mr. Quail." The leaders declare tonight that it will be impossible to open the shops and the men who have been sent to the streets this morning, but have been quietly agitating and discussing the situation in their quarters this afternoon.

REFORMATORY TO MANSION.

Gov. Hoke Smith Takes Boy from Prison to His Own Home.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

ATLANTA (Ga.) June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Paroled from the State Reformatory, whether he had been sentenced for two years, 14-year-old John Atkins slept last night at the Governor's mansion.

Gov. Hoke Smith visited the reformatory at Milledgeville on Wednesday and met the boy.

The Governor was attracted by the lad's appearance and, after talking with him an hour, handed him a pardon, saying: "Come, my boy, I want you to go home with me and spend the night."

Friday the Governor will enter the boy in the high-class industrial school. Gov. Smith was moved to pardon the boy because the latter said:

"You see, Mr. Governor, I really don't mind staying here in the reformatory because they're mighty good to me, but I'm getting along in years. I'm now 14 and soon I'll be a man, and I don't want to have to start my business life as a man who has just been turned out."

HARVARD MAN ASKED TO QUIT.

Famous Football Quarterback and Son of Stay-at-Home Man in Strong Disfavor.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CAMBRIDGE (Mass.) June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John W. Cutler, quarterback on the victorious football team last fall and captain of the team, was asked to quit Harvard University.

He was asked to quit because of his conduct in connection with the Harvard Law School. The school's administration has been asked to withdraw from connection with Harvard University.

Special meetings of the Harvard Law School, were called as the result of the administration of the school's president of the university to stamp out the misdeeds of students.

Cutler and Fish, who were both fined $10 in court yesterday for attacking the yard officer, were asked to resign from the Harvard Law School.

Both men are prominent in college. Cutler, who is a member of the Harvard Law School, is a member of the Harvard Law School.

Brookline family, played quarterback on the football team which carried a 4-0 victory last fall from New Haven, a team of which every player will go down in the history of the college.

MAY PRODUCES BIG TRAFFIC.

Roads Stimulated to Go on With Improvements.

Millions of Dollars' Worth of Rails Being Laid.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] General traffic on both eastern and western roads has increased so much during the last two months that the majority of the railroads have begun to make the improvements which were planned for the spring months, but which were delayed on account of the falling revenues.

The laying of most of the roads during the month of May, showed an increase over the previous month, together with an increase of between 10 and 15 per cent. over the corresponding month of last year. The improvement has been general with the result that the work of laying new rails, of ballasting, and of putting new ties and of constructing additional track has begun everywhere.

Early in the spring thousands of miles of new rails were strung on almost every road in the country, to take care of the usual "renewal" work. It was expected that as soon as the frost was out of the ground the work of laying this vast tonnage of steel rails would begin.

Orders were issued by nearly every road the country over, to permit the gangs to lie by the side of the tracks until further notice. The result is that the railroads are several months behind in their renewal and betterment work. Confidences have been re-established in the industry, and the work has been resumed with vigor.

The laying of between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000 worth of third and fourth main line tracks between Chicago and Buffalo. The Rock Island has taken the lead in laying out the new tracks, and is now laying out the new tracks between Chicago and St. Louis.

PHILADELPHIA STRIKE LOST.

Settlement Expected Within Twenty-four Hours.

Serious Rioting Occurs at Noon Hour.

Demands of Men Cut Down in New Proposal.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 2.—The strike of the motorists and conductors of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit Company is in process of settlement. Those having the matter in charge confidently assert that the trouble will be over within twenty-four hours.

Serious rioting was renewed today. Most of the disturbances occurred during the noon hour when the workers threw bricks at passing motorcars and conductors.

For the first time since the strike was begun a number of the employees of the elevated road joined the strikers. The strike cars ran at irregular intervals until night fall, after which no attempt was made to continue the service.

Industrial politicians today took steps to end the struggle. Senator McNichols, recognized Republican leader, and Senator Yarr, who controlled the district's section, announced that they sympathized with the men and were trying to bring the strike to an end. McNichols presented the demands of the men to the company. Twenty-two cents an hour, instead of 15 cents, originally asked by the men, is said to be the new proposition.

Mayor Hughes said this afternoon that developments were expected that night and the street car strike at any time.

All the saloons of the city were ordered closed at 8 o'clock tonight.

There was much disorder today in the districts that saw the rioting last night. When the streets filled with people in the business section at noon, a crowd surrounded a car one block from the postoffice. The car windows and the windows and show cases of a drug store were smashed. A policeman was hit on the head by a brick and seriously hurt. Policemen scattered the crowd and made several arrests.

At noon subway and elevated trains were running twenty minutes apart. The subway schedule is four to five minutes, between lines, the first motorcar to abandon his train, said his wife read a note on the porch of his little home this morning reading:

"If you go to work we will blow your house up."

The motorcar him. When the train was abandoned the passengers sent up a loud cheer, and this influenced the crowd to quit also.

This afternoon the Mayor ordered the suspension of Capt. Dugan and Thompson, veterans in the city's police force, it is presumed they were charged with failure to vigorously push the crowd against rioting.

A mob of nearly 200 persons formed early tonight on Kensington avenue and started for the main barn of the city, intending to destroy it. By the time the barn was reached there were nearly 500 in the mob. It was met by 10 policemen at the barn door. There was a quiet effect and only a few stones were thrown.

Demonstrations were made in other portions of the city. Cars were wrecked and motorcars, conductors and policemen attacked. Several persons were injured.

If the men agree to accept a counter proposition, made by the transit officials, they will return to work late tomorrow.

DRIVERS START TROUBLE.

DISPLAY UNION BUTTONS.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—Efforts to establish closed shop conditions among the delivery drivers employed by the State street department store firms yesterday led to the discharge of thirty-five drivers from two stores.

At the close of the "teamsters' strike" in 1907, which resulted disastrously for the strikers, one of the conditions under which the men returned was that they should not wear union buttons conspicuously while at work.

The rule had been enforced until recently, when Ben Elliott, a subject in the Polter murder case, the Sheriff is convinced that the lad had nothing to do with the slaying. Investigation yesterday showed there was no connection between the boy burglar and the slaying which was solved by a young fellow answering Elliott's description in Redondo.

Marshall Stanchfield of Redondo, however, is convinced he is on the right trail, and is following up his theory. The Sheriff has promised Stanchfield all the assistance in his power, but is not detaching any deputies on that crew.

ARREST SUSPECTS.

E. F. Saug and E. M. Daggett were arrested yesterday afternoon by police detectives and locked up at the Central Station on suspicion of having robbed Henry Holt of No. 2124 West Thirtieth street of $25.

REPORTS ROBBERY.

Charles Smith of Lancaster reported to the police yesterday that he was knocked down by a man at Center Place, near First street, about 2 o'clock yesterday morning, and robbed of $75 in money and checks to the amount of $15. Smith is a guest at the Natick House. He could not give the police a description of the man who robbed him.

Clubman Suicide.

KANSAS CITY, June 2.—John W. Speas, a prominent business and club man, committed suicide at his home here this morning by shooting. He had been in ill health for several months. He was 63 years of age.

Bloodhounds Trace Murderer.

HAMILTON (Ohio) June 2.—A murder, followed by a spectacular arrest, occurred at Middletown early today. The body of an aged umbrella maker was found in a lot. The head had been crushed and the man robbed. The police sent to Dayton for bloodhounds, which three times led the police to the home of Perry McNeal, who was arrested.

Fanatics Slice and Burn Body.

RENO (Nev.) June 2.—A murder said to have been committed by Asian religious fanatics at the construction camp of Wells Bros. and Brown on the Western Pacific, in which a number of Buddhist devotees took one of their number to the desert, sliced his body and then burned the remains, was reported here tonight.

SUICIDE ON SWEDDING DAY.

Groom Confesses to Bride He Is Bigamist and Takes His Life.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.]

SAN FRANCISCO, June 2.—Overcome by remorse and unable to bear the reproaches of his bride, of less than twelve hours to whom he had confessed that he had another wife living, William Graham ended his life today by swallowing crude carbolic acid.

He was married to Miss Hannah E. Carroll last night and after the wedding festivities confessed to her, though withholding the name and whereabouts of his other wife.

The bride upbraided him and he rushed from the house to be found several hours later in a dying condition.

WRONG MAN.

SUSPECT FAILS IN THE TALLY.

LOS ANGELES SHERIFF VISITS RIVERSIDE PRISONER.

Officer Is Satisfied That the Latter Is Not Guilty in the Polter Case.

Young Ben Elliott Again Eliminated from Suspicion in Connection With the Murder.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RIVERSIDE, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sheriff Nelson, who under suspicion in connection with the murder of Anna Polter, near Los Angeles, was arrested this morning by Officer W. E. Hutsen, while trying to force his way into the home of Otto Frits at No. 14 Kansas avenue. His threatening actions frightened Mrs. Frits, who called her brother to watch him until she could telephone for the police. Martinez was taken to the County Jail.

In a tobacco sack carried by Martinez was found a strip of dark blue and white checked calico twelve inches long, supposed to correspond to the material of the dress worn by the little Polter girl when found. With this was wrapped a piece of dark cord, the whole rolled in a tight wad.

Martinez carried with him a number of newspaper clippings, all of which contained women's faces, and of date, May 18, about the time of the murder.

In his talk this evening he admitted having been loitering in the parks and watching little girls. He appeared to be simple minded. About a month ago he was seen in Riverside by Deputy Sheriff Nelson. His actions at that time aroused suspicion, and it was believed he was insane. He told Nelson he had walked from Old Mexico to his way to Los Angeles.

Upon leaving Riverside then he started in the direction of Los Angeles.

Not the Murderer.

Sheriff Hammel, accompanied by Coroner Hartwell, Rev. A. C. Allison and Detective Talmant, made a hurried run to Riverside last night as soon as the news of the arrest of Martinez reached here.

The garments worn by Anna Polter at the time of the murder were taken along so that a comparison could be made with the scraps of cloth found upon the Mexican.

Rev. Mr. Allison, who saw a Mexican on the Los Feliz road near the spot where Anna Polter's body was found shortly after the murder, and who stated that he could identify him, was one of the party.

When the Sheriff reached the Riverside County Jail he found that the Martinez under arrest there had been investigated by the Lancaster authorities a short time after the murder. A deputy at Lancaster arrested Martinez two weeks ago and he was brought to Los Angeles and awaited. He proved an alibi so complete that it was useless to proceed further with the case.

The Mexican, however, will be held in the County Jail in Riverside on a charge of insanity, preferred against him by officers of that district.

Again Eliminated.

Sheriff Hammel yesterday again eliminated Ben Elliott as a suspect in the Polter murder case. The Sheriff is convinced that the lad had nothing to do with the slaying. Investigation yesterday showed there was no connection between the boy burglar and the slaying which was solved by a young fellow answering Elliott's description in Redondo.

Marshall Stanchfield of Redondo, however, is convinced he is on the right trail, and is following up his theory. The Sheriff has promised Stanchfield all the assistance in his power, but is not detaching any deputies on that crew.

GRANDFATHER WAS MURDERED.

Young Woman Creates Sensation at Inquest.

Believes Dr. Binkley Was Slain at Hotel.

Says Man Seized Her as She Passed Corridor.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

CHICAGO, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "My grandfather was murdered. I know he was, for a man seized me in the hotel corridor and tried to lock me in a room when I started down stairs to give the alarm, just after we found his dead body."

With these words Miss Eleanor Upchurch, granddaughter of Dr. John T. Binkley, Sr., aged 82, of Evanston, Ind., who was found dead in his room at the Wellington Hotel last Wednesday afternoon with a bullet hole in his head, today closed the testimony, which, it is believed, will overturn the contention of the hotel authorities that her grandfather committed suicide.

The young woman's statement caused excitement at the Coroner's inquest, which was held in the Roletton undertaking rooms at No. 279 Wabash avenue.

As a result of this startling testimony the police are now working on the theory that the case is one of murder, and the man referred to by Miss Upchurch is being sought.

Dr. Warren Springer, the Coroner's physician, who conducted a post-mortem examination, stated after the inquest that Dr. Binkley could not have shot himself with his left hand.

"Two of the fingers were missing from that hand," said Dr. Springer, "and the cords and muscles were so drawn and wasted as to make the hand practically useless. It would have been absolutely impossible for him to have held a revolver in it; certainly he could not have fired it."

The shot was fired through the left cheek and ranged upward and back, where it lodged in the brain and caused death. The absence of powder burns leads me to believe the shot was fired from a distance of at least eight inches. It hardly seems possible that such a shot could have been fired by the right hand of the victim, although I am not prepared to say that it might not have been."

According to dispatches from Evansville, the dead physician's revolver has been found in his residence in that city.

WIDOW ARRESTED ON TRAIN.

Missouri Woman Intercepted in Flight After Death of Husband from Poison.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RICH HILL (Mo.) June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Bessie Burgess was taken off a train last night on telegraphic orders from Sheriff Butler, Mo., who was taken back to his home today to await further investigation of the charges, that she caused the death of her husband last Sunday by administering strychnine.

Mrs. Burgess was arrested by Constable Stangle as she was sitting in a Missouri Pacific train.

The following telegram had been received ten minutes before the train was scheduled to depart: "Mrs. Burgess will attempt to escape or leave for parts unknown. Intercept her at Rich Hill."

The warrant charges Mrs. Burgess with administering poison to her husband, who became violently sick while working at Ovid, Sunday, and before relief could be administered died in a convulsion. From this time on, the city in attendance said strychnine poisoning caused his death.

KENTUCKY BAD MAN RAMPANT.

Notorious Character Threatens Judge; Friends Attempt Rescue, Many Revolvers Flash.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

JACKSON (Ky.) June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A. S. Johnson, a notorious character who intimidated court officials here a few years ago, is at his old tactics again. Because a suit was decided against him in Judge J. H. Adams' court a few days ago, he

SICK TWO YEARS AFTER AN ATTACK OF THE GRIP.

Tonic Treatment Is Necessary After the Acute Stage of the Disease Is Past Before the Health Can Be Fully Restored.

A single attack of the grip may mean a lifetime of misery if proper precautions are not taken to restore the blood and drive out the lingering poisons that cause the so-called "after-effects" of the disease.

The danger from the grip is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms, the fever, the catarrh, the headache and the depression of spirits pass away. The grip leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and over-sensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration, and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence.

Mrs. W. H. Parker of No. 96 West Union St., Newark, N. Y., tells of her cure by this tonic treatment, as follows:

"I was sick for two years following an attack of the grip and could get little relief from the doctors' treatment. I had a bad cough for over a year and everyone thought I was going into consumption. I was extremely nervous and had trembling spells which affected me so that I couldn't sit still. During the year I had to lie down most of the time."

"My heart palpitated and my head ached frequently. I lost a great deal in weight, had no ambition and was not able to do much work. I had no appetite at all and my stomach was weak."

"I was led to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by reading of a cure of a case similar to mine and felt some relief in a short time. The trembling spells left me and I picked up right along until I was cured."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have also cured such blood diseases as anemia, rheumatism, after-effects of the grip and fevers. Owing to the intimate relation between the blood and nerves, the pills have been found invaluable in such nervous diseases as dizziness, nervous debility, neuralgia and St. Vitus' dance.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

I sought out the judge last night, and had not friends interfered would probably have done him bodily harm.

Today, in company with "Bad Jake" Noble, both loaded with mean whisky, they proceeded to shoot up Jackson and terrorize the citizens. Noble was arrested, and while the officers were taking him to jail his rescue was attempted by John Davidson, a member of the Peaton faction. One of the Marshal's posse stopped Davidson, however, by drawing a bead on him with a revolver. During the excitement scores of revolvers were flashed and for a few moments a pitched battle was threatened.

Johnson gave himself up tonight and is now in jail.

MINING MAN SUICIDE.

PENILESS, DESPONDENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

RENO, June 2.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. A. Haven, an aged mining man of Rhyolite, committed suicide yesterday by swallowing cyanide of potassium. A letter indicated that he was expecting money from a Mr. J. Smith, who probably resided in Los Angeles. He was despondent, and not a cent was found in his pockets. He wrote a pathetic poem just before he committed the rash act.

Nothing is known about his relatives. The suicide had taken a blanket from the bed and placed it neatly over the white spread, but in the death struggle his body rolled to the floor.

He was well educated, 60 years of age, and evidently possessed wealth earlier in his life. He came to Rhyolite last month from California, according to one who knew him.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

The Council yesterday decided that feeding city garbage to hogs under a new contract must be done five miles from the municipal boundaries. The people closed yesterday in the "Arizona Jack" Allen murder case. The defense will probably have all its testimony in by tonight.

The will of Joseph F. Maier, late president of the Maier Brewing Company, was filed for probate. He leaves all of his property, except $500, to his mother, Mary Maier.

Argument ended yesterday in the Robert Crawford Smith will case, which suit has been on trial before Judge Rives for three months. The decision is to be announced later.

AT THE CITY HALL.

DUTS BAN ON VERNON HOGS.

COUNCIL FIXES FIVE-MILE LIMIT FOR FEEDING.

Barbage Specifications Adopted. With Few Exceptions. The Council yesterday adopted the ordinance that the city's garbage must be fed to hogs at least five miles from the city limits. The Council voted unanimously on this, though it means an end to the hog-raising industry of Vernon, which is the cause of constant protest from residents of the southeast part of the city.

The specifications prepared by John W. Sheen, Assistant City Attorney, and submitted to the Council three weeks ago, were adopted with only two changes. One was increasing the hog feeding limit from one mile to five. The other was an amendment permitting bidders to make proposals on all methods, as well as on the one now in use. The necessity and practicality of the last amendment are questioned, and may be changed when the revised draught is presented to the Council Tuesday. Incineration and reduction must be done outside the city, but the distance is not fixed.

The value of Vernon alone was lifted against the specifications. Oscar Williams, attorney for the town, declared that the hog-raising industry and now raising being limited a year to Vernon, and that it would be the city dump, half in Vernon and half in the city, and the fertilizing value of the manure would be lost to the city. Mr. T. P. Paul, president of the Federated Improvement Club, protested in the name of the city against the hog-raising industry on any basis, and many Sixth Ward men, including several women, supported him. The Council, after a discussion as to whether Vernon should be allowed to consume the city garbage in its hog pens, and the decision was that it must cease.

The new specifications will be formally adopted and sent to the Board of Public Works Tuesday. The board will then advertise for bids to be received sixty days later, and bidders may choose either the incineration or total destruction, reduction or animal feeding process of disposal. With the five-mile distance established, the variable bids from hog raisers are not expected. Councilman Dromgold tried to have the provision amended so that points of disposal by feeding might be anywhere from one-half mile to five miles, but the city attorney, who is in charge of the city's disposal, said that the difference in distance might make a great difference in cost. It is understood that the city will make a saving by regular, to show just what a saving may be made by permitting the Vernon district to dispose of its garbage in its hog pens, and the decision was that it must cease.

After the garbage question was settled, the Council adopted specifications for a dead-animal contract similar in purpose to the garbage specifications. At the last minute cats and rabbits were taken from the animals to be included in the contract, and dogs may be taken out Tuesday, as it is believed the city can do this better with out contract. This is not the judgment of the Board of Public Works, however, and they were all included in the specifications.

As the garbage and dead-animal contracts are closely related, bids on both will be received the same day, and it is hoped the same bidder will get both. The bids for the contracts of five and ten-year contracts.

PAWNBROKERS' LAW. NEW POLICE REGULATIONS.

Pawnbrokers, second-hand dealers, junk dealers and junk collectors are to be put under new regulations originating in the police department. If the Mayor signs the ordinance passed by the Council yesterday, the new regulations will take effect immediately.

This ordinance provides that all pawnbrokers, second-hand dealers, junk dealers and junk collectors are to be put under new regulations originating in the police department. If the Mayor signs the ordinance passed by the Council yesterday, the new regulations will take effect immediately.

QUESTIONS PRICE. FIRE COMMISSION STARTLED.

When the Fire Commission found three demands for payment of rates for fire engine-houses in its budget yesterday it decided to visit the sites before approving them. This was done after the demand of C. H. Day for $25,000 for a sixty-foot lot on Seventh street, near Union avenue, was read.

The Mayor said he knew of a lot near to this one that could be bought for $100, and would answer the purpose just as well. Because he thought the amount involved so great that an investigation should be made.

Other demands of J. G. Buckingham for $100 for a lot adjoining the engine house No. 4 at Edgewood road and Temple street, and from W. H. Earle for a lot on Washington street near Van Ness avenue, were held up until the commission investigates.

The commission again expressed its belief that the Council ought to consult its wishes before buying sites. It was the sentiment that, even if the price of the Seventh-street lot is too great, as alleged, it was too much money for the city to spend when a site on a cross street could be obtained for a few thousands.

Fire Chief Lippard said that eighteen more firemen be added to the department pay roll when the next city budget is made up in July. They are to maintain the new engine-houses. A captain, two lieutenants, an engineer, three drivers and eleven hosemen are needed.

TESTS BREAD WEIGHTS.

The Mayor has not decided whether he will veto the ordinance repealing the bread ordinance not, as he has been advised by the City Sealer, who has submitted a statement to him, showing that a schedule of bread weights is needed. In his report the sealer says: "An examination of 100 5-cent loaves of bread, bought promiscuously, showed that 10 per cent weighed only ten ounces, while less than 10 per cent weighed fourteen ounces. Sixteen loaves should be standard. The same proportion was maintained with 10-cent loaves." He says this shows the need of a legislative body standard which the repealed ordinance attempted to do.

TO SUPERVISE DECORATIONS.

The Council yesterday authorized the Board of Public Works to take full supervision of the use of decorations for the city's convention, which is to be here beginning July 1. The board will be assisted in determining requests by the Building Inspector.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

BACK TO MELODY. TUNE THE HARP.

DISCORD IS ELIMINATED AND DIVORCE IS OFF.

Near Approach of Hour for Hearing of Action for Separation. Develops Mutual Desire of Couple to Reunite and Word Is Given to Attorneys to Withdraw the Suit.

A little moving picture show, for which no admission was charged, was exhibited to a few admirers of romance at the Courthouse yesterday. In the corridors on the third floor, a well-dressed couple walked hand in hand. That was nothing unusual to the habitués of the palace of justice. Many who saw the spectacle imagined it was a couple who were a true couple, preparatory to making up their minds that they desired a marriage license. But it was nothing of the kind; on the contrary, quite the reverse. The couple had been married, and the divorce had been instituted, and now that the sober second thought had come to the wife (for she was the plaintiff in the action) an edict was being made to heal the breach that had existed between them for some time, for the wife was the Judge James' candidate for 3 o'clock sharp. That hour was near.

The man in the case was Thomas O. Evans, proprietor of the Decatur Hotel at Ocean Park; the woman was Mrs. Ruth L. Evans, the wife. As they walked toward the court, the wife, talking earnestly and evidently lovingly, two well-known attorneys, who had been waiting in the matter, stood at the side door leading to the elevator, waiting for something to do. It did.

At the end of an especially confidential conversation between the pair they returned to the court, and the wife announced that the divorce action was off. The solicitors rushed into Judge James' courtroom and had the case stricken from the docket.

It was the old story, with but few variations. The couple had been married but a short time when the young wife, who thought she was entitled to all of her husband's time, fretted over and about, and the husband, who was a little of a playboy, was not so much interested in her. A little rift in the lute of domestic harmony was thus created, and after a while a divorce was filed charging extreme cruelty. There was nothing really back of the complaint, but the wife was bitter and determined to have her way.

FLEETING JONES. TERM "RASCAL" APPLIED.

The first of a series of cases involving the crooked financial transactions of L. E. Jones, the deceased real estate man of this city, was heard in Judge Hovey's court yesterday. The style of the action was Lena Bertelson against Charles E. Williams. Williams sold his property in the Euclid Park estate for $100,000, and the money was invested in some of the securities held by Jones. On December last he put all of this money in mortgages on such property, the deal in question being the first, the amount being $1500. Other purchases of mortgages, involving $100,000 and $100,000, were made, the gross amount covering every dollar Williams had secured from his property on the Euclid Park estate.

The mortgage in question was on a piece of property on Cherry street, owned by Lena Bertelson, and it was proven that Jones paid over to the plaintiff but $50 of the $1500 he received from Williams, leaving still unpaid $1450. It was to this extent of the unpaid money that the action was brought by Miss Bertelson.

Some of the testimony indicated pretty clearly the hard and fast financial dealings of Jones. It was on the 10th of January, 1908, that the Ryder Land Company office during the last days, before Jones disappeared. In the course of the hearing, it was proposed to take a stipulation between the attorneys as to certain facts in the case, when the court suggested that one should be that Jones was a rascal.

"We will agree to that," said J. H. Shuckland, attorney for the plaintiff. The case was submitted to the court, which indicated that it seemed from the testimony that both Miss Bertelson and Mr. Williams had been very negligent in looking after their financial interests in their dealings with Jones. The case was taken under advisement by the court.

HOME TRANSFERRED. GRAND LODGE TAKES IT.

So far as the courts are concerned, the agreement made between the trustees of the Southern California Masonic Home at San Gabriel and the Grand Lodge of Masons of California has been consummated. Judge Wilbur yesterday made the order allowing the parties to the arrangement to carry out the stipulation already agreed to.

Under the terms of the stipulation the Grand Lodge property will be transferred to Oscar Lawler, Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons of California, and that body will hereafter exercise control and jurisdiction over the Masonic charity located at San Gabriel. With this provision that the present inmates of the institution are to be cared for in future by the Grand Lodge. It was stated that the main new engine-houses. A captain, two lieutenants, an engineer, three drivers and eleven hosemen are needed.

HITS MRS. BARNETT. MAKES BENEFICIARY WINCE.

The judge-draw-out case involving some of the provisions of the will of the late Robert Crawford Smith was closed in Judge Rives' court yesterday with the arguments in behalf of the heirs by Attorney Bradner W. Lee and Charles Cassett Davis.

Attorney Lee spoke for an hour in closing his argument, and caused Mrs. Barnett, the beneficiary of the will, to wince, when, as a final word to the court, he said: "It has been shown by the evidence that Mrs. Barnett, the high priestess of occultism, opened her sessions and sittings with an invocation of the evil spirits, and that she was when self-interest prompted, to violate the law of the land with regard to the will of the late Robert Crawford Smith. She should be held to the command handed down to Moses on Mount Sinai. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor."

FOR COUNTY GARAGE. ACTION OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors yesterday employed M. D. Griffith at a salary of $75 per month to watch the county garage, and be on duty at night at the county garage.

The wages of E. E. Hubbard and E. H. Hutchinson, in charge of the insane patients at the County Hospital, were increased from $30 to $35 per month. Quarters at Nos. 234-236 New High street were rented for a period of four months beginning July 1 at $100 per month, for the housing of the assessment rolls while the Board of Equalization is in session. The old detention home had been used for that purpose.

The award of the contract for grading the miles of Harbor boulevard from Gardena to Wilmington was postponed until next Monday. At the same time the highly contentious will submitted specifications for the rock-crushing plant, for which bids will be called.

MANY BRAMBLES. WEDDED PATHS THORNY.

Judge James spent the most of yesterday hearing the testimony in a contested divorce action brought by Samuel L. Berryhill against Belle M. Berryhill, and at the adjournment of the action announced that the case will be resumed this morning.

There were a number of witnesses on the stand, testifying to various phases of the unhappy marriage. The plaintiff, a woman, testified that the wife was not a proper helpmeet, and that she had been driven to the point of suicide by the conduct of the husband. The husband, who was a man of some means, testified that he was a man of good character, and that he had been driven to the point of suicide by the conduct of the wife.

PEOPLE CLOSE. IN ALLEN MURDER CASE.

The prosecution closed its case yesterday before Judge Davis, and the jury in the trial of "Arizona Jack" Allen, charged with the murder of Deputy Constable Charles de Moraville. It is understood the defense will be completed this evening.

Charles Catlin, constable at Burbank, testified that he had heard Allen making threats against "Charley," but he did not know who "Charley" was. He also testified that he had seen Allen with a pistol in his hand, and that he had seen Allen with a pistol in his hand, and that he had seen Allen with a pistol in his hand.

MAIER WILL UNBIDDEN. OLIVER TESTAMENT FILED.

Edward R. Maier, secretary and treasurer of the Maier Brewing Company, filed the will of Joseph F. Maier, president of that corporation, in the Probate Court yesterday. Maier died in this city April 11, aged 32. The will, which is written on a letterhead of the Maier Brewing Company, is out of the ordinary on account of its brevity, and also from the fact that it is unsigned, although a petition alleges that the instrument is in the handwriting of the deceased.

To his wife, Teresa, he bequeathed the residue of his estate, and to his children, John and William H. Jr., he bequeathed the residue of his estate, and to his children, John and William H. Jr., he bequeathed the residue of his estate.

UNRULY GIRLS. BEFORE JUVENILE COURT.

The attention of Judge Wilbur of the Juvenile Court was largely taken up yesterday with the hearing of the charges against the fourteen girls who created the trouble at the Home of the Good Shepherd last Friday night. A great deal of testimony was taken indicating that there had been no ill-feeling among a number of the inmates for some time. One of the accused girls testified that some of her companions had put saltpeper in her hair, and that that pepper had been placed in the coffee by some one unknown.

THURMAN WINS. CARETAKER LOSES SUIT.

Judge Bordwell yesterday decided in favor of the defendant the case brought by Mrs. A. Rainey against Mr. Thurman. Thurman was the caretaker of the property of Mrs. Rainey for about $100 a month, and he was charged with the care of her eleven-room property at 1111 Broadway, Los Angeles. The defendant testified that he allowed the plaintiff to occupy two rooms

Most Elaborate Style Assortment We Have Ever Presented At One Time

You can practice economy—and at the same time follow fashion—if you wear "QUEEN QUALITY" Shoes. They have always enjoyed pre-eminence as originators and promoters of artistic shoe design, but their position on this question of style is more emphatically established this season than ever before.

It is a great mistake to class "QUEEN QUALITY" with ordinary shoes sold at the same price; impartial comparison reveals a striking difference. Without limiting you as to price—or as to the number of stores at which you may try—we positively assert that you cannot find any shoe assortment to excel our present showing of "QUEEN QUALITY" Shoes.

Prime materials and expert shoemaking are artistically combined in "QUEEN QUALITY" Shoes, with the result that they approach nearer perfection than is often reached by human hands. You can find the same materials and as finished shoemaking in other lines; you MAY even find the same designs—so often are they copied. But rest assured that when you locate these properties in combination it will not be at "QUEEN QUALITY" prices.

A daily output of 18,000 pairs tells the story.

HALF MILLION DOLLAR DEAL.

Lima, Ohio, Capitalists in San Bernardino.

Lease and Bond on Property Idle Five Years.

Big Power Plant to Supply Camps Likely.

Consummating one of the most important of late mining deals in this section, J. M. Hale and the Allen G. Campbell estate have given a bond and lease running for ten years on the Gold Brope and Gold Bar, free millage properties in Vanderbilt district, San Bernardino county, to A. L. White and associates of Lima, O., for $450,000.

These properties have been idle for five years, and are filled with water, but pumps have been installed and the unwatering will be rushed, the expectation being to complete it inside of three months. The parties taking the bond are Lima capitalists, Mr. White being the millionaire president of the Lima Locomotive and Machinery Company.

The deal was made through C. K. Hooper, a local mining man, a brother of J. P. Hooper who in the early August days anticipated sale by taking $500,000 from a lease in less than two months, and F. M. Kelly of Needles. Negotiations have been pending for several months, during which a thorough examination of the mine, as far as possible without unwatering, was made. It is stated that the parties' sections as to ore showing is found correct, after the water is pumped out, the bond will be executed and development on a large scale inaugurated.

The properties contain 300 acres of rich mineral land and 100 held under government location. Both have been extensively developed and contain several thousand feet of underground workings. The main shaft of the Gold Brope is down 400 feet. There are a large number of mine shafts, shafts and drifts, the ore averaging better than 25% with more than 200 four blocks out. The Gold Bar is equipped with a ten-ton mill, which is to be remodeled and used to treat the ore from both properties.

Mr. White and his associates, the Victor mine at Vivian, Ariz., and control the power plant at Needles. If the option is taken, the power plant will be moved to the mines on the Santa Fe branch, between Gotha and Ivanpah, and will furnish water power not only for the operation of these properties, but for the Searchlight strike on the Nevada side. A good record for production: the Gold Bar produced more than a million pounds of ore in 1908, and the Gold Brope something like a million. A mill to handle several hundred tons a day will be built if the ore showing justifies it.

Free Lectures. The Chamber of Mines plans a series of free stereoscopic lectures during the year, devoted to the exploitation of the State's mineral resources, showing the various districts, principal towns, producing properties and the general character of the mining industry. The chamber desires to secure a series of stereographs (or negatives) which selections can be made for the character. These photographs will cover a wide range of subjects, viz: the various districts of the State, the various towns, the various producing properties, the various mining operations, showing the various methods of mining, the various types of mines, foot walls and hanging walls, the various types of ore, the various types of ore, the various types of ore.

Campbell estate have given a lease and bond running for two years on the Gold Bronco and Gold Bar, free milling gold properties in Vanderburg district, San Bernardino county, to A. L. White and associates of Lima, O., for $500,000.

These properties have been idle for five years, and are filled with water, but pump have been installed and the water will be raised, the expectation being to complete it inside of three months. The parties taking the lease are Lima capitalists, Mr. White being the millionaire president of the Lima Locomotive and Machinery Company.

The deal was made through C. S. Hunter, a local mining man, a brother of J. D. Hunter, who in the early days was associated with the late John D. Rockefeller. The deal was made for a lease in less than two months, and F. M. Kelly of Needles, California, has been pending for several months, during which a thorough examination of the mine, as far as possible without unwarranted expense, it is stated that if the representations as to ore showing is found correct, after the water is pumped out, the lease will be exercised and development on a large scale inaugurated.

The properties contain 300 acres of rich mineral land, 200 of which are held under government location. Both have been extensively developed and contain several thousand feet of underground workings. The main shaft of the Gold Bronco is down 400 feet, and that of the Gold Bar 300 feet. There are a large number of minor tunnels, shafts and drifts, the ore exposed averaging better than 35% with more than 500 tons of bullion last year. The mine is equipped with a ton-stamp mill, which is to be remodeled and used to treat the ore from both properties.

Mr. White and his associates own the Victor mine at Victor, Ariz., and using the power plant at Needles. If the option is taken the power plant will be moved to the mines on the Santa Fe branch, between Coffey and Needles, and will furnish light and power not only for the operation of these properties, but for the searchlight duties as well. The mine have a good record for production; the Gold Bar produced more than a million before it was shut down, and the Gold Bronco something like $200,000.

A mill to handle several hundred tons a day will be built if the ore showing justifies it.

Free Lectures.
The Chamber of Mines plans a series of free lecture lectures during the year, devoted to the exploitation of the southern mining industry, showing the various districts, principal towns, producing properties and the state as a whole, of interest to mining men and the general public.

The chamber desires to secure at once a series of photographs for exhibition, if they can be furnished, from which slides can be made for the lectures, which will be general in character. These photographs can cover a wide range of subjects, viz: Main street of the town or camp, view of the camp, principal mines, surface workings of the mine, shafts, etc., mine operators and miners, machinery and mine workings, showing the various phases of the mining industry, and other negatives or photographs will serve to illustrate the various phases of the mining industry. In sending in photographs, the same be furnished, it is suggested that a complete statement describing the same be furnished.

Photographs may be sent direct to the Los Angeles Chamber of Mines, 200 German building, Los Angeles, and will be submitted to the Publicity Committee of the chamber, for the primary arrangements for the first lecture, which will be general in character. Later it is planned to specialize, devoting a lecture to each camp or district.

Seek to Consolidate.
The Chamber of Mines has formed a committee, headed by D. B. Brown, president, for the purpose of acquiring the shares of the Bullion, Pioneer, Gold Hill and other companies and individual properties in the immediate vicinity.

The Gold Hill stock is controlled by Brown and George Wingfield, and the Bullion has been turned into the consolidation, aimed to mean the merger of mining companies.

Stock is to be offered to the public, and two hundred acres of rich mineral land are embraced in the proposed consolidation, free of the proposed consolidation, a letter was sent to the stockholders, the free milling ore in the district, if sufficiently extensive, will be treated by a plant costing $100,000, but it is claimed that a saving of thousands of dollars will be made by the consolidation on the board. Titles to the mine to remain as they are until the consolidation is complete, after which the properties will be acquired as a unit as possible.

Shannon Copper Company.
The Shannon Copper Company has been organized for grading and construction of the ten mile railroad between the Clinton smelter and the mines at Needles. Six hundred men will be sent to the work to be rushed to a completion in nine months. All tunnels, shafts and the like are to be for a permanent purpose, but for a time after the road will be operated under contract, later to be changed to a permanent ownership.

Under construction is intended to prevent the smelter from being shut out of capacity. During the construction the track would be built out by the smelter and it would be used to transport ore from the mines. The higher the track the more the smelter will be able to maintain a constant output.

Searchlight Strike.
Whitman and Crin have made a rich find of gold and are shipping to Needles. The searchlight on the Nevada mine is shut down. The property is near the old Homestead mill, and a shipment just made averaged close to 350 a ton. Work has been started in the last few days by E. C. Rives on the Caliente tunnel, where a station is being cut for a shaft. Indications are the present bodies will yield enough in the next thirty days to keep the mill running for several months, and it has been definitely decided to build a mill, the character of which is to be decided in the next few days.

The Caliente ore runs better than 35% the bodies asserted to be large.

In Litigation.
The Cadena de Cobres, located in the San Jacinto mining district, Sonora, Mex., whose stock is largely owned locally, and in Arizona, is in litigation, suits having been brought to compel the cancellation of some 550,000 shares of promotion stock, alleged to have been issued to promoters and former officials without consideration.

The Arizona lower court in Cochise county ordered the stock canceled. It is getting to be more and more difficult for promoters to obtain stock without adequate return.

Bullion Run.
Completing the regular bi-monthly clean-up, the Montgomery-Shoshone shipped 10,000 ounces of bullion last week. The tonnage handled amounted to 200 tons daily for the month. A new ore strike has been made at the 500-foot level in the work east from that point, and a big milling body opened. Development will gradually lower, proving up as it goes down. The mine and mill showing is considered exceptionally good.

Looks Promising.
The ore body struck two weeks ago in the C.O.D. Consolidated at Goldfield at the bottom of the Victor shaft is promising. A crosscut from the shaft at the 400-foot level has encountered ore similar in character to that on the level above. It carries from 6 to 20 per cent. copper, but the gold has not been disclosed. Development during the next few days is expected to show whether the body is the same as the shoot discovered on the 200 level.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.
BANK MONEY TO BE EASIER.

SAN FRANCISCO INSTITUTIONS ARE INTERESTED.

One Leading Financial Concern Adds Prominent Oil Operator to Its Directorate—Fresno Money Also to Be Offered More Freely Since Visit to Coalinga.

San Francisco bank money is to be more free for the oil business, according to all late reports. Hitherto it had been the complaint that the northern metropolis banks were extremely unfriendly to oil investments and that not a dollar could be had from them; the same has been true of many other cities within the oil regions. One San Francisco leading bank, the American-Union, has placed J. J. Mack, one of the large independent producers, on its directorate. This bank has also taken over the First Bank of Coalinga.

According to Fresno advices, too, the banks of that city are showing a more friendly disposition toward oil as a result of recent developments at Coalinga and a visit there by leading business men.

Notwithstanding the attitude of some banks in the past, caused largely by the tactics of many in oil, the big oil-class enterprises have generally obtained what was needed. The Associated, as is well known, obtained "first aid," to speak from the Hellman.

UNION THE BACKER.
"FRISCO SO CONSIDER." (BY DIRECT WIRE TO THIS TIME.)
SAN FRANCISCO, June 3.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Union Oil Company is reported as financing the proposed pipe line of the Independent Agencies from Coalinga and McKittrick to Dudley, where two eight-inch lines will run to Port Harford. The Independent will contract with the Union Oil Company to supply oil through that line for ten years at a fixed maximum rate.

The Union has two big tank steamers on route from England. The Independent says they are for transporting oil from Port Harford delivered there by the new pipe line. The Associated people speak of them as destined for the Union's South American trade. It is plain that the Union anticipates a much greater business in the immediate future. Its present fleet is quite large and should be ample for all present needs, though its trade is constantly growing. The handling of the Independent's production would likely call for the additional boats.

The latest steamers are the largest yet placed in service, capacity 60,000 barrels each, or 800 more than the Santa Rita, the last of the line. It is operated by the Union. They are fitted with the best of quarters for officers and crews.

O. Scribner, assistant general manager of the Associated, says that the company will be unable to report as to the disposition of the $5,000,000 worth of new bonds for about three months yet. From another and outside source it is learned that the Mark Manufacturing Company of Zanesville, O.,

In the products affected by the tariff schedules in normal times there is paid out for wages the enormous sum of $2,277,548,537, and the value of all the products affected by the tariff in times of normal activity amounts to $13,270,192,088.

While Congress spends its time listening to industries talk against the protective policy of the Republic in framing the tariff schedule, this vast army of toilers is suffering more or less from idleness, and the thousands of different industries, so vast in the magnitude of their output, are either closed down or running on slack time for the same reason.

The delay is not the fault of Republicans who are true to their party creed. They would have passed the tariff bill long ago but for the dilatory tactics of the opposition.

We might submit if they were in earnest, but if there is one member of Congress in either party who is sincere in all his talk, obstructing or delaying the passage of the bill, he probably is an exception to the general rule. In every other case opposition Congressmen and Senators have put in their time investigating against the protective principle involved in the Republican tariff bill and then voting for the duty proposed upon every product in which the people of their State or district may be interested.

ETYMOLOGICAL TINKERS.

One of Dickens's most humorous characters is old "Sawbones," with his "human varicosus." In a way, and not a very wide one, the simplified spelling board reminds us of the shop of this old collector in Dickens's London. They are doing to the English language about what he did to the corpus humanum, only this spelling board is guilty of the crime of vivisection. Old Sawbones waited until his victims were dead.

There we have touched the marrow in this affair. The English language is alive. It is subject to the natural modifications of growth and is not a dead log to be carved according to the whim of any person, however skillful artisan or artistic genius. Whatever changes take place in this virile language spoken by a vigorous, energetic, vital people must be in the way of natural growth. You can cut up a piece of wood into a chair or a table or a desk, but no skill of artisan nor genius of artist can improve by sawing, carving or chiseling a living oak with the sap in its trunk and the glory of its foliage rustling in the wind.

In the list of members of the spelling board which has undertaken to simplify the language for the rest of us we must confess are found the names of men of great learning, whose opinions ordinarily cannot be lightly passed over. The members of this board are both Americans and English. It is more surprising to find our own people engaged in this work than to notice the names of prominent English scholars in the list. There is some question whether the language spoken in the United States may properly be denominated English. The tongue has undergone many important changes on the great American continent, differentiating it materially from the vocabulary and the construction of sentences still common in England. It was inevitable that this should be so. We had things to name unknown in England. We had modes of life to describe never thought of there, and with the wonderful energy of the American mind these changes have gone on rapidly. We should suppose that this process of eliminating useless vocabularies and adding necessary ones, together with the original way of combining words into sentences prevailing in America, would have been an object lesson to the American members of this association. They might have seen that the changes were going on at a pace satisfactory to people of ordinary patience. These changes should have made patent to their eyes the only way in which a living language can be materially altered.

For example, words like "labor" and "parlor" are never seen in an American print with the "u" in the last syllable. The English still cling to the use of that unnecessary and awkward double vowel in words of this class. The simplification of our language is in progress on every side, and it will perhaps move more rapidly in the future than in the past. The language will simplify itself a little more rapidly than the rank and file of the people will be able to keep pace.

There is just one class of people whose activity in this reform-spelling business we can easily understand. Book-makers and book-sellers surely would hail it as a straight and sure path leading to a great boom in the printing of books. But the very fact should suggest to the spelling simplifiers to go slowly in their radical campaign for reform spelling. It would entail a vast and unnecessary expense upon the people. We would all have to make bonfires of our dictionaries, large and small, and supply ourselves with new ones. Even sets like the Century Dictionary would immediately become obsolete, utterly useless to us all.

There is no doubt that the publications of this spelling board show changes which might well be made. They would all be in direct line with the elimination, before referred to, of the "u" out of words like "labor." But they make suggestions for simplifying the language which are utterly unscientific. We have not come across in their publications, so far as we remember, the past participle of the verb "prove." There are two forms of this, "proven" and "proved." Now, there is no doubt that the latter is the proper ending for that verb. It is not of Saxon origin, but of Latin; and the Latin language knows nothing of a past participle made in this way. When it comes to spelling "publish" instead of with the "ed," you have the same unscientific linguistic principle involved. The "u" on past participles and participial adjectives is distinctly Saxon in its origin, and in our opinion should never be applied to any word not of Saxon origin. It makes a mongrel out of any word of Latin origin to spell it in this bizarre way.

Learned as these gentlemen are, they make other mistakes which show that some of them have neglected to go to the deepest roots of the matter for their information. The word "isle" is to be spelled without the "s." In arguing for the elimination of the sibilant they refer to its coming from the Latin "insula" though the French into the sea. In adapting such words from Greek into Latin the aspirate was almost universally translated by the Latin sibilant "s." "Syria," a Latin word, shows the same process in the translation of the Greek "hule."

Another unscientific argument used by these spelling reformers is found in their reference to the spelling used in the earliest editions of Spenser and Shakespeare. The language was chaotic at that epoch; dictionaries were practically unknown, and the very fact that the spelling board is campaigning for was in universal use. We mean phonetic spelling. As the word sounded to the writer's ears, without a standard authority, so he spelled it. If any reformer would take Chaucer and take the word "sudden" he will find the difficulty of spelling phonetically about as well illustrated as in any word in the language. It is our recollection that this word is spelled not less than ten ways by this one writer, and each way is phonetic.

Now to sum up, we have standards of spelling and millions of the English-speaking people of the world are supplied with these dictionaries, large and small. From time to time changes are introduced into the language by natural growth. These changes will go on and they will all be in the direction of a more simplified language, not only in orthography, but in syntax. The whole tendency of the English language is toward simplification. The process has been going on from the ancient Saxon to the vocabulary and style of the most advanced American writer of today. No doubt these reformers will call attention to words which may be simplified, and writers will adopt a change here and one there which in time will become incorporated into the language. But this business of re-sorting the words in the dictionary as potatoes in a pit will scarcely work successfully.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

In trying the owners of the Indianapolis News for criminal libel the government of the United States, to use a street phrase, has bit off a good deal more than it can chew. Judge Anderson's remarks indicate clearly that the court has in the back of its head a very lively sense of the value of the freedom of the press. That the government will succeed in convicting the publishers of this Indianapolis paper or of the New York World has in the case of the real owners of the Indianapolis News (and they are the persons at bar) it seems to be already established that they knew nothing of the alleged libelous matter until after it was published. Financially they are responsible for damages in a civil case, whether they knew of the matter or not; but in a case of criminal libel the fact that the people indicted were cognizant of the nature of the matter and that it was published by their instructions, or at least with their consent, must be established.

We have never taken a cent's worth of stock in this alleged Panama scandal. Many people did believe that there was a corrupt deal in settling upon the Panama route in preference to the Nicaragua, that there was a big steal in it and that some persons must have made large sums of money out of the transaction. Judge Anderson seems to keep his eye upon this vital fact and he indicates that in such a case the press had a right to make public any conservative statement that seemed to have any clear foundation under it.

Here we may console ourselves that this trial has been brought. We believe it will be established beyond peradventure that the decision in favor of the Panama Canal was arrived at honestly, that the money paid for the French concession was not an exorbitant sum, and that it went to the French stockholders to the last dollar. It will be a satisfactory result for all decent-minded Americans to have these facts clearly brought out in this trial and put an end to the scandal that has existed for several years.

THE AEROPLANE SCARE.

It may seem a little like hysteria for the French and the English to manifest concern about the German airship; but, crude as this device is today, it actually could be used with disastrous effect in case of war, should one break out tomorrow. The French, much disturbed over Count Zeppelin's last flight, are figuring upon how they might meet an attack from the clouds in case of trouble with Germany. Naturally people take as comfortable a view as possible. The French think that they have artillery which, worked from the surface of the earth, would destroy any airship at present available. These people, too, are skillful in the management of dirigible balloons and they imagine that a fleet of these of small size, like a mosquito fleet of torpedoes, would render abortive any attempt on the part of a German airship to destroy a French city, Paris or other.

But is this complacency well founded? Suppose the German airships are manned by little crews of daring, patriotic people like our own Hobson, and are loaded with an abundant supply of dynamite. If the German crew of a few persons were willing to sacrifice their lives for their country, would the French dare to go gunning for the airship loaded with dynamite and bring it crashing down into the midst of the city? The destruction of the airship would be the doom of the city.

Half a dozen of these flying machines, sent across the North Sea and hovering over London, might drop dynamite enough to destroy the metropolis of the modern world. Even if England had artillery to shoot them down or balloons to successfully attack the invaders in the clouds, the case would be just as bad. And so of a fortress. One of these airships might drop dynamite enough upon Gibraltar to destroy the whole defense work erected there by the English during the time they have held the rock.

WHERE GROWS THE SUNDROW.

THE BITTER TONGUE.
 BY UNCLE WALT MARION OF EMPORIA.

There was a man, when the world was young, and he went around with an ugly tongue; it's said that nobody ever heard him utter a pleasant, kindly word. He liked to gossip of evil things, and all his sayings had herbs and stings; he stirred up trouble from day to day and scattered poison along the way. "At last Death silenced the caustic tongue" (these things occurred when the world was young); and his neighbors carried his bones away and buried them under five tons of clay; and the bands they played, and the whistles blew, and there never was such a hullabaloo! The bonfire blazed and the cannon boomed, and the people joined in a big parade, and the children danced and the grown-ups yelled—"O never was such a howlout held!" For the man was dead with his caustic tongue; it was long ago, when the world was young!

THE LIMIT.
 "Why are you crying, my little man?" asked the sympathetic stranger.

"Boohoo!" sobbed the boy, who was almost hidden by packages and cans. "The man that put up this picnic is the meanest man in the world. He's making me carry the hams, jellies, canned salmon, bread, forks, plates, hammocks, swings, croquet sets and baseball bats."

"Gracious! And did he promise anything as a reward?"

"Yes, sir."

"And what will be the reward for such strenuous labor, my son?" he says he'll let me turn the ice-cream freezer for a couple of hours. "Nough to make a fellow turn anarchist. Boohoo!" [Chicago Daily News.]

Doing in a Wireless Way.
 With a ball at Omaha actually lighted up by 4000 incandescent lamps, kept in a brilliant, steady glow by a wireless current from a plant five miles away; with electricians prodding the Navy Department for permission to install a wireless apparatus which shall propel its warships, anywhere on the Atlantic, by currents produced in Washington, and with others offering to run railroad trains in the same manner, without wires—surely we are on the eve of tremendous doings in the "wireless" way. What must be the effect of these inventions on the development of the water power of the country. If that power can be transmitted for long distances without wires, it would seem that the cost of utilizing it must be very considerably reduced. [St. Paul Pioneer Press.]

A Crusade Worth While.
 Los Angeles' crusade against billboards, which, under the terms of an anti-billboard law that has just become effective, is now being carried on by tearing down painted signs along the streets and highways, should be emulated by other cities. The prevalence of billboards, with their offenses against art and usually also against the English language, is a public nuisance which should be abated. [San Francisco Chronicle.]

Cardinal Sallati is in such good health in his seventieth year that he is looking forward to several future celebrations—the fiftieth anniversary of his priesthood, in 1912; the twenty-fifth anniversary of his episcopate, in 1913; his seventy-fifth birthday, in 1914, and the twentieth anniversary of his red hat, on November 20, 1915.

SCIENCE NOTES.

Cure for Spotted Fever.

As a result of John D. Rockefeller's establishment of the Institution for Medical Research at New York, a cure for spotted fever, or epidemic typhus, has been discovered. The cure was recently tried upon a patient at Lyons, Alaska, whose condition had become so rapid and worse that he had passed into a state of unconsciousness. Word was sent a Boston assistant, the well-known Dr. Fletcher of New York, who for some time past has been making a study of the disease with funds furnished by Mr. Rockefeller. Upon the arrival of the specialist the patient's spine was opened and the serum injected. Its effect was surprising, for it seemed to bring about an immediate change and he soon recovered consciousness, and at last accounts was on the road to recovery. Hereafter persons have survived spotted fever, but they have never been the same afterward. The disease always leaves its victims, if they survive, with weakened brain, or else it takes away the power of locomotion.

Automatic Electrical Scales.

In order that the government may have a check upon any frauds in the weigher's department, the port of New York, twenty electrical weighing machines are being built. The mechanism registers the weight automatically and has an electric device which will cause a warning bell to ring in the customhouse, where the weights will be registered on tape, as well as a description of the goods weighed. When proposals were asked for the construction of the machines the scale manufacturers absolutely refused to construct the proposition. By express invitation, however, an inventor was found, who was given an order by the Treasury Department, and the mechanism has been developed in the mint.

Deep Shafts.

France claims the record in Europe for depth in the bottom of the earth. At Bonchamp, in Haute Saone, the Buyer shaft, sunk for coal, is the deepest of all shafts sunk by the hand of man for industrial purposes. It is exactly 1010 meters, or about 1120 yards, deep. The temperature at the base is 116 deg. Fahrenheit while at the surface it is only 50 deg. The deepest metal mines are the Lake Superior copper region. There the No. 1 Jacket shaft of the Calumet and Hecla mine is 400 feet vertical, while the Tamarack shaft is 300 feet over 5000 feet deep—namely, No. 5, which is 5000 feet, and No. 3, which is 5230 feet vertical. The Tamarack shafts were sunk to extract ore from the copper lode first exploited in the Calumet and Hecla, and they cut a lode having a dip of 34 deg. at a vertical depth of 4660 feet. By attaining a depth of one mile underground and by showing what ease operations are conducted at the great depth, these Lake Superior mines have demonstrated that man is likely to be able to penetrate at least as profoundly into the earth as the ore payers.

May Live on Air.

Dr. Robert H. Bradbury, a Philadelphia chemist, recently described the building up of genuine food in the laboratory from inorganic substances, a feat which has been accomplished, he said, "in the far advance of anything that has been done hitherto in organic chemistry." He constructed albumens which are almost exactly similar to the natural albumens in animal structures. He fed these substances to a dog and found that they gave the animal nourishment exactly equal to natural albumens would have done. The cost of such materials is, of course, enormous, but the experiments certainly suggest that possibly we may ultimately be able to construct foodstuffs to a great extent by chemical processes. The experiments, too, have a certain bearing upon the problem of life, as they have produced a substance new to the world, which has been found to be present in the body of a man.

FURNES OF GASOLINE EXPLODE, FATALITY BURNING GIRL.

Young Woman Touches Match to Range in Room Where Newly-Cleaned Clothes Are Drying and Crash Follows—Rushed to Hospital, But Dies in Few Hours.

REDLANDS, June 3.—Miss Virginia Harris is dead at the Redlands Hospital, and the residence of her father, O. W. Harris, No. 314 Western avenue, is wrecked, as the result of an explosion caused by lighting a match in the room where clothes washed in gasoline were drying.

Mrs. Harris and her other daughter, Ruth, spent the morning washing clothes in gasoline in the basement of their home, and having hung the garments on the lines in the basement, the gas plate there was an explosion, which killed the girl.

UNDERGROUND WATER FALL.

Cascades Believed Responsible for Recent Rumbles and Quakes in San Jacinto Mountains.

SAN BERNARDINO, June 3.—Manuel Lopez arrived here tonight from the San Jacinto Mountain country, bringing with him additional information concerning the strange rumbles heard for many weeks. Lopez declares the Indians are leaving, as all of their superstitious fears have been aroused. Lopez made a thorough investigation, and believes the sounds come from an underground waterfall, which, he says, probably also caused the recent quakes throughout the mountains. His statement is partially corroborated by others arriving from that region. He declares the sounds are caused by the falling of water from the San Jacinto mountain.

Carries Out Wishes of Dying Woman in Giving Relatives Compensation for Their Labor on Her Behalf—Park Board Plans Swimming Pool in Riverside.

RIVERSIDE, June 3.—For the care of an invalid sister during her last illness, Judge West has awarded judgment of $125.00 to Hugh Nibel in his suit against George Thacker, as administrator of the estate of Nellie Glass, deceased. The amount sued for was $125.00.

The evidence showed that Mrs. Glass was taken ill while on a visit to her sister, Mrs. Hugh Nibel, in Portland, and that she remained at the latter's home until her death. Repeated promises were made by Mrs. Glass, it was alleged, that she wished to compensate her sister's family for their care of her, but she died before carrying out her expressed intention.

PARK SWIMMING POOL.

Plans are under consideration by the park board for the construction of a swimming pool at Fairmount Park. If the board approves the plan, it is the purpose of the board to begin work on the pool as soon as possible. SAN DIEGO WOMEN FOOLED BY SHREWD SCHEMER.

Peddler, Claiming Silks He Sells Are Smuggled, Disposes of Lot of Plain American Goods at High Prices—Motorcycle Agent Improving—Gas Busy for Harbor.

SAN DIEGO, June 3.—Great is the indignation of some leading society women of San Diego. Silk underwear, fine silks and other articles of apparel they purchased of a peddler are not genuinely smuggled goods, but regular "store goods."

A man bearing several suit cases containing women's apparel appeared in the fashionable residential districts recently. He exhibited his wares and said he secured the goods through a smuggling expedition. Because he had no duty to pay he could afford to sell at a low price. The finest lingerie of Chinese and Japanese silk was included in the lot, the peddler said.

A woman, said to be the wife of a prominent business man, purchased as much as $200. She told some of her acquaintances. The story soon became general. The peddler took the opportunity to sell a few articles to sell, and that the buyer would be the one of a few to possess such a fine collection of smuggled silk. The rush was heavy.

After the swindler had disposed of at least $1000 the husbands of some of the women became suspicious, and reported the matter to the police. It now develops that the goods are common American makes, and probably came from some store that had been burglarized. Local police have a good description of the man, and are seeking him.

C. A. Sheppard, who was supposed to have been fatally injured in the motorcycle accident of yesterday, has regained partial consciousness. The attending physicians say there is now some hope that he will recover.

CORONA, June 3.—Pedro Tibista, a sheep herder, was drowned in a creek near the Temescal camp either yesterday or today. His companions missed him, and he was not found until this morning. He was 32 years of age, a native of Spain, and a year ago a resident of Corona.

From the fact the body was found face down in about two feet of water, the supposition is the man was either overpowered with the head and in trying to reach the water fell face forward.

The coroner's inquest, all local talent, with twenty-four persons in the cast, will appear in the opera-house Friday evening for the benefit of the Corona band.

STILL HAPPY. LONG WEDDED, RENEW VOWS.

LOCAL COUPLE MARK THEIR FIFTY-SEVENTH YEAR.

Perils of Early Days on the Pacific Coast finally by the bridegroom, New Past Eighty-Five. Resources Caused Bride to Come from East. Old-Time Friends of Joaquin Miller.

How would it seem to celebrate one's fifty-seventh wedding anniversary, to stand hand-in-hand with the sweetheart of one's youth and look back over the sunshine and shadow of the years stretching between wedding day in 1855 and an anniversary in 1932?

There are two happy old people in Los Angeles who could tell all about it. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Meacham of East Avenue 41, who yesterday renewed the vows made half a century and seven years ago in Newark, N. J., with the same love light in their eyes which shone brightly at the outset of their life journey together. Snowy hair has taken the place of the golden ringlets on the head of the bride of 75, but she is bright and vivacious in manner, and the bridegroom of 72 has still somewhat of the vigor and determination which impelled him to make the trip around the Horn in forty-nine in the good ship Orpheus, a pioneer indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. Meacham, who celebrated their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary yesterday.

His wife, Phoebe Amelia Craig, was a dainty ditty frock for her wedding gown, and she drew her lover back from the golden Eldorado in the West to claim her as a wife. She was devoted to the soil of her native State, for she was one of thirteen children, and she persuaded her husband to go back to California alone and sell out his holdings in San Francisco, that they might live nearer to civilization.

When Meacham reached San Francisco, after a trip by way of Panama, he found that the valuable property he had acquired had been sold by a man with whom he had left power of attorney to represent him in his absence. This property, if retained, would have made George W. Meacham one of the most spectacular Argonauts of early California.

When the news of his misfortune reached the expectant bride, she started out on a perilous journey across the plains to join her husband. The couple bought a home just back of the hills near Oakland, where they met and won the friendship of their neighbor, Joaquin Miller. Meacham turned his attention to cattle raising, and for many years was well known as a stock man. A few in the title of the land caused him to lose his property, the second time, and he and his wife and child—now Mrs. J. M. Meacham—struggled bravely to make a living on the land.

Now, in the evening of their days, they are making their home with their daughter, Mrs. Strowbridge.

DIES WITHOUT WARNING.

"Col." Eckert Expires Suddenly in the Presence of Wife Before Help Can Be Summoned.

Thomas W. Eckert died suddenly at his home, No. 135 West Avenue 53, on Wednesday evening, aged 68 years. He had been in apparent good health all along, and only on last Sunday he and his wife celebrated their forty-fifth wedding anniversary. At that time Mr. Eckert passed the past years and called attention to the many friends who had passed away. On Wednesday evening he retired as usual, showing no signs of illness, when he was suddenly seized with a choking spell, from which he died before medical aid could reach him. Mrs. Eckert was with him at the time, but was powerless to help him.

The deceased was universally known as "Col." Eckert, an honorary title probably won during the militia days in Kansas, but he was never in active service. For the greater part of his life he was in the newspaper business, for many years in connection with the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, and for twenty years he was owner and editor of the Arkansas City, Kansas, Daily Traveler, from the ownership of which he retired when he came to Los Angeles four years ago.

He was prominent in politics in Kansas and was director of the Kansas Penitentiary under Gov. Morrill, and it was he who substituted a plain uniform for prisoners instead of one of stripes, because he considered the stripes demoralizing.

He leaves a widow in this city, beside Mrs. W. A. Sullivan, a daughter, and a son, W. F. Eckert. Another daughter, Mrs. Carrie B. Smith, resides in Arkansas City, and is now en route here to attend the funeral. A service will be held at his late residence at 2 o'clock this afternoon, after which the body will be placed in a vault in Rosedale cemetery to await the arrival of Mrs. Smith.

TORRA HEARING. In Judge Will's court yesterday the trial of Thomas Torra for the alleged mistreatment of a girl was postponed a period of defendant until September 1.

a corporation. The public arises from a real estate deal at Crestmore townsite in San Bernardino county, in connection with which charges are made against the defendants. The plaintiffs ask for a setting aside of a verbal agreement, the restoration of everything of value received by McLeod from them, and damages.

SUES FOR HOGS. The Southern Pacific Company is plaintiff in an action brought against the Cudahy Packing Company, in which a judgment for $118,316 is asked. It is alleged that on February 13, 1904, the Alamosa National Bank received from Cudahy hogs, containing 204 animals, valued at the sum stated, which were appropriated by the defendant, and sold right to the property. The Alamosa National Bank assigned the claim to the plaintiff.

FORTUNE TELLERS PAY FINES AND AGREE TO LEAVE.
Plead Guilty to Violations of Ordinances for Licensure Their Business and Forbidding Advertising Their Occupation—Defendant Says She Is Mother of Twenty-three.

Spectators in Police Judge Chamber's court yesterday morning might easily have imagined themselves suddenly transported to old Rome, by the gypsy women fortune tellers put in an appearance for examination on the charge of violating the license ordinance and the ordinances governing advertising of their profession.

The magistrate fairly gasped when he saw the stream of color pouring through the door into his court. The mixing of hues and tints in headgear, shawls, waists and other accessories was enough to make the most fantastic painter's palette look like a rain cloud coming over the mountains. As if the gaudy apparel was not sufficiently attractive to set off the dusky skins, sparkling eyes and shining teeth, bare arms almost hidden by massive silver bracelets, costly amber neck chains swung to their waists and at every movement costly pendants and spangles tinkled from ears and from many fastenings about the clothing.

Scarcely had the women taken the seats to which they were ushered by the bailiff than babel began. All began talking at the same time and seemingly did not stop for breath. Judge Chamber threw up his hands in despair and sent out a hurry call for two interpreters, believing two would be needed to catch all that was being said. The interpreters pleaded, however, that they would leave in the afternoon for Oakland, the judge administered the lowest possible fines, which agreed to leave the names given by the women and the fines imposed were Mary Lehan, $20; Anna Lehan, $20; Julia Lehan, $20; Rosie Lehan, $20; Rosa Lehan, $20; and Maria Lehan, $20.

The women were arrested about two weeks ago for advertising that they could read the future. Four of them also following their profession without the required license.

Violates Probation.
C. W. Dalton could not satisfy Police Judge Frederickson yesterday morning that his conduct has been good, and he was sentenced to serve the thirty days imposed at that time.

Upon the solicitation of the young man's father and a brother, Police Judge Frederickson yesterday imposed a fifty-day suspended sentence on Dalton. The young man has for some time allowed liquor to interfere with his business.

Get Time to Plead.
Nineteen wholesale produce and fruit dealers who were arrested in the last two weeks for violating the pure food laws by allowing berries to be displayed without protection against dust and flies, appeared yesterday afternoon, and on asking for additional time, were given until the 16th inst., to enter their pleas.

Attorney Oscar Miller, who is defending all the dealers, said it is his understanding that nine of the dealers will plead guilty. The law under which the dealers are being prosecuted was framed by Deputy Dist. Atty. McCarty, who says that the arrests will continue until the law is observed, as each day's offense is constituted a new violation.

For Theft of Ten.
James E. Steers, Jr., who was tried before Police Judge Williams yesterday for the charge of stealing $10 from Mrs. C. C. Wise at Morley's dancing academy a few days ago, was given a suspended sentence of 10 days. Steers entered a plea of not guilty, but after the prosecutor presented his evidence changed his plea to guilty, and Steers took the money from Mrs. Wise's pocketbook after she had entrusted it to his care.

MISS TRUE BLAMES ROGERS.
Indian Agent at Banning Coming in to Give Her Version—He Denies Firing.

Assistant United States Dist. Atty. Stewart stated yesterday that he had received a brief dispatch from Miss Clara True, Indian agent at Banning, relative to trouble between her and Indian wards and Ralph Rogers, president of the Pacific Savings Bank of this city. According to her account Rogers began to quarrel with True and was taken into custody. After being detained for several hours he was released. Rogers denied he had fired at the Indian policeman, Segundo Chino. "I received a telegram from my son to the effect that Indians had pulled up on my survey stakes and had cut our irrigation ditch," said Rogers, yesterday. Upon arriving at the land, which is close to the Palm Springs reservation, I called upon Dr. Wellwood Murray, from whom we purchased the land. He produced a patent and accordingly Dalton was charged with making fraudulent entries.

Skinner won most of his land contests and under the law thus obtained preference rights. Henrietta B. G. Davis and Lydia Oxford, however, disputed his preference rights, on the ground that the contests had not been instituted in good faith. The contest affidavits of the two women were rejected by the local officers and an appeal was then taken to the department at Washington.

The contest affidavits alleged that Skinner had failed to exercise his preference rights, but was waiting for a chance to dispose of his rights. In passing upon the appeal, the commissioner states: "At the time the contest affidavits were filed, the land was surveyed. It was doubtless due to this fact and that applications for homesteads could not be filed, that Mrs. Oxford and Mrs. Davis sought to protect their alleged settlement rights by filing their claims under the law of the United States. This is not a subject to be contested."
